Week 7!

As we look forward to assembling for our seventh week since the pandemic was announced, we will have been back in our assemblies as many weeks as we were out. Still attempting to abide by the assembly guidelines, we are inching back to our new normal. For those who can join us, we are happy to see you; for those who cannot, we miss you and look forward to being with you again soon.

It goes without saying that current national and world events are the center of attention. Conflict, disease, violence, distrust, anger and confusion all demand our attention and often cloud our thinking. We are experiencing life in a way that was foreign to us just a few weeks or months ago and seeking to somehow locate the answers to the challenges that are before us. Though, we should recognize that THE answer is always before us and found in our relationship with the creator of lives, world and universe. Though the following passage was for a specific time and place it still has much value to us today.

"if my people who are called by my name humble themselves, and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven and will forgive their sin and heal their land."
II Chronicles 7:14
